RAILWAY HOUSE, MILTON, MASS.
The subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has taken a lease of this extensive house, and has fitted it up for the accommodation and comfort of travellers, convalescents and boarders.
A beautiful grove with pleasant walks, a garden, swing &c. are connected with this establishment, and the proximity to the city renders it a desirable place of resort for those who may desire to spend a short time away from the confusion and hurry of a crowded place of business.
The bowling alleys have been newly relaid, and good attendants provided.
The ladies will be stored with the best of provisions, and such delicacies as the seasons afford. The bar will also be kept supplied with choice wines and liquors. Good stabling for horses.
The Dorchester and Mil. on line of stages leave for Boston every morning and noon, and return at noon and evening.
Jy25 epif SILAS HALL.

WARREN HOUSE.
At the junction of Merrimack and Friend Streets.
This establishment having now gone through extensive and thorough repairs and additions, will compare with any other public house of its size. It has been furnished from top to bottom with new furniture, bedding, carpets, &c., and is now open for the accommodation of travellers.
It is the intention to conduct the House after the mode of the most approved public houses—and every effort will be made to please personally, and by well tried assistants, to please his former custom and those who may visit the Warren House for the first time.
Extensive stables, with pure water, is attached to the establishment.
Jy25 epif AZARIAH PROCTOR.

THE SUBSCRIBER, late of the Warren Hotel, informs his friends and the public, that he has opened a new Hotel in Cohasset, in the centre of the town, near the Meeting House, where he would be happy to wait on all those who may favor him with their patronage.
Ladies and Gentlemen, with their families, can be accommodated with board on reasonable terms.
Stages run to and from the house three times a-day, to meet the Bingham Steamboat General Lincoln.
N.B. Good Saddle Horses and Carriages may be had at all times.
Jy27 epifw THOMAS SMITH.

TABLE D'HOTE.
At the Howard Street House—The subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public, that his ordinary continues to be kept daily for their accommodation. Dinner is served at 2 o'clock precisely, and furnished with every luxury of the season. Gentlemen wishing to dine at any other hour can be accommodated at the Restaurant. His cellar is provided with Wines of every description, and of the choicest qualities—for which the House has been so long celebrated.
Jy29 if JAMES RYAN.

MASSACHUSETT HOUSE,
WALTON, MS.
The subscriber respectfully informs his friends and the public, that this large and elegant establishment, 23 miles from the city, is now open for the reception of company, and every effort will be made to give entire satisfaction to individuals and parties of pleasure, at immediate notice.

FOR SALE.
VALUABLE REAL ESTATE IN CHARLESTOWN.
Three pleasant and convenient Houses, situated in Franklin street, about ten minutes walk from Warren Bridge. The first, containing about 3200 feet of land, is built of wood, has a parlor, sitting room, kitchen, wash-room, and seven chambers, a good cellar paved with brick, good rain and well water brought into the house, out houses, and a large yard with fruit trees.
The second, of brick, contains about 2000 feet of land, has a parlor, sitting room, wash room, five chambers, a cellar, paved with brick, good well and rain water brought into the house, a good yard and out-houses.
The third is of wood, and contains about 5000 feet of land, has a parlor, sitting-room, cellar kitchen, five chambers—a good cellar, out-house, and a large yard, suitable for a small garden.
These Houses are in complete repair, and will be sold separately or together. Conditions of payment will be 25 per cent down, the remainder in one, two and three years, with interest, secured by mortgage on the property, it desired by the Purchaser.
Also—a lot of Land, containing about 4000 feet, on the corner of Main and Franklin streets, with a good building, suitable for a merchant or mechanic, which will be sold on the above-mentioned terms of payment.
For further particulars, inquire of S. VAINNE, Charles-town, or of H. DAVIDSON, No. 57 Long wharf, Boston.

NOTICE TO WOOLLEN MANUFACTURERS, and to Builders of Machinery for Carding and Spinning Wool.—The subscriber, having invented and patented a new and improved method of carding and spinning wool, and persons in want of such article are invited to examine the same, at Messrs RILEY & KINNEY'S, No. 68 and 70 Cornhill. This pump is calculated to supply the place of all others now in use, for drawing and raising water for factories, workshops, mills, and private houses, or any place where large quantities are required—being simple in its construction and not liable to need repairing—and one person can with perfect ease pump from 60 to 75 gallons per minute. It may be applied to extinguish fires, as it plays a steady stream, throwing the water like a common engine, as high as ordinary buildings. It is also well adapted for the use of Steamboats, being very compact, not occupying more room than a common house-pump. It has been acknowledged, on examination by scientific men, to save at least one half of the time and strength required by any pump now in use.

In offering this pump to the public, the subscribers feel confident in saying, that it will not only perform all the work above stated with ease, but at a saving of an hundred per cent. in time from the old system. For sale by ENOS WILDER & CO., No. 48 Chatham st.

JOHN GOULDING.
In regard to male and female authors, we may say that the greatest, as well as the dullest, writers, are men; there are fewer writers among women than among men who are absolutely unreadable. A woman seldom writes a dull essay, a dull romance, or a dull poem, while men produce very many of each. The common herd of poets are inferior to the common herd of poetesses; but the greatest practical writers of every nation are men. The same remark will apply to men and women in every other department of literature.

REMOVAL.—The subscriber has removed from 411 Washington street, to 71 Hanover street, three doors from Union street, where he solicits his former patrons and the public in general, that he may be in want of Brass, Copper and Iron Wire Cloths, warranted in strength and durability to any manufacture in the country. Railroads and other corporations will find it for their interest to call and examine before purchasing.

Wire Belts, of every description, Meat Saws, Wire Dish Covers, Wire Strainers, convenient articles for family use, Bird Cages, of every description—Fenders, fire-places—Window Screens, a beautiful article for parlor windows, plain and ornamental—twisted wire, for cellar windows and skylights—Sieves, for iron foundries—and all kinds of Wire Work and Sheet Metal.

POETRY.
For the Boston Morning Post.
TO THE BEEFSTEAK OPPOSITE.

Thy juice, Beefsteak, may never flow for me,
Thy tender fibres never press my teeth;
And yet it soothes my appetite to see
The imperial cook steam in thy smoky wreath!
And watch thee bubbling in luxurious death!
And see, (prospective) cutlets from some ox
Or calf, which, bowing to persuasive knocks,
Craving thy fate, will yield its willing breath.
There is a yankee legend of Tom Barr,
When Steaks were scarce, and none were found with BIRD;
Then Tom grew anxious, searching near and far,
And talked of suicide—at length he heard
Of a prime rump, which he secured from STEARNS,
While Fenno rumpled mourned, and swore and prayed
by turns! MUSH.

Marine Hospitals.—In the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, of July 20, 1836, are certain critical remarks upon Marine Hospitals. The writer speaks of the manner in which they are supported, "by a direct tax of twenty cents a month deducted from the hard earned wages of each sailor, without any regard to his circumstances," as being an unrighteous manner of sustaining them. "The poor sailor, under existing rules, is not allowed to remain under medical treatment but about six months, though he may have been paying for it forty years." We think, not only from the remarks of this Journal, but likewise from the very general dissatisfaction which exists among the sea-faring men, in regard to these institutions, that some of their regulations require reform. Whether the custom of taxing sailors for the support of Marine Hospitals, in the manner in which they are taxed, is just or expedient, is a question which ought to occupy the public attention. That it occasions great dissatisfaction among the common sailors, is a notorious fact—a fact which we consider a very rational argument against it.

Cleaver Men and Women.—In the Metropolitan, (Foster's reprint of which for June has just been received by Otis, Broaders & Co.) we find the following remark in an article by Mrs. Abby, headed Cleaver Men—"I am certainly of opinion that there are many women of decided intellect, that the education of the present day unfolds such intellect more than that of the past century, and that the improvements of future days may unfold it still more, but there my concessions must cease; they must always keep far in advance of us, and the cleverest woman of this age, or of any others, if in company with a really clever man, will, if she be prudent, give up all thoughts of rivaling his conversation, and be contented to admire and to profit by it." We think that Mrs. Abby must be a very clever woman!

In regard to male and female authors, we may say that the greatest, as well as the dullest, writers, are men; there are fewer writers among women than among men who are absolutely unreadable. A woman seldom writes a dull essay, a dull romance, or a dull poem, while men produce very many of each. The common herd of poets are inferior to the common herd of poetesses; but the greatest practical writers of every nation are men. The same remark will apply to men and women in every other department of literature.

Foddering the wrong beast.—A few days since, a strong and active young man drove with great rapidity to a public house in the vicinity of this city. Having many miles to proceed, he left his horse at the door—entered the bar-room—took a glass of brandy—then jumped into his vehicle and drove off. "He'd better have given his horse two quarts of oats," said the bar-keeper. "The young man had probably forgotten," said a bye-stander, "that it was the horse, and not himself, that performed the labor of travelling." "He has foddered the wrong animal," said another.

The citizens of the U. S. and Germany, according to the Globe, drink about 400,000 bottles of champagne a year—England and the East Indies 667,000—Russia 280,000—we should think this would change some of the czar's hard consonants into liquids.

O'Meara, Napoleon's confidential medical attendant, who died at Paris in May last, was very poor.

They have got a Steam Plough in England which works to a charm.

Singular Likeness.—On Saturday last, a man called into the exhibition of wax figures in Union street, and was instantly taken with being the Rev. E. K. Avery, on account of the singular resemblance between him and the waxen effigy of the above named notorious individual.—He denied the identity with great warmth, and we suppose to prove that he could not be a clergyman, rapped out sundry round oaths with sufficient emphasis and energy to convince every one present that it was a mere mistake.—
Times.

The York Herald relates that the keeper of the Government House of Correction had been frequently surprised to hear in the prison the soft strains of a flute—the fact was a mystery, as no instrument could be discovered in the prison. At last it was solved—lifting a stool one day, a leg dropped which proved to have been ingeniously made into a flute by one of the prisoners, to lighten the weary hours of his incarceration.

Foreign Miscellany.
A man at Nausac lately swallowed a knife out of bravado, but by remaining quiet as he was advised, both the knife and blade were, after a short time, completely dissolved by the gastric juice.

Another Italian Prince in danger of a piteous marriage.—Prince Carignan at Turin, who had unsuccessfully solicited the hand of Donna Maria at Portugal, recently became so enamoured of Madame Albertazzi, whom he heard sing at the opera in that city, that he would have gone mad, it is said, if his father, the king of Sardinia, had not appointed him immediately a colonel of one of the regiments doing duty. A flatterer, probably, to enable him to pay his debts through the profits of his commission.

At a late public exhibition of the Deaf and Dumb school, a person asked young Forester, one of the pupils, what was his idea of sound. "And you, sir," answered the intelligent youth on paper, "what idea had you of it, before you were called into being?" The asker of questions must have been rather puzzled.

Good.—The ladies of Paris resort to the Seine for bathing in such numbers, that gendarmes are obliged to be stationed at the establishment to keep the peace. It must be very hot weather.

Power of the Judiciary.—In a preceding paper, we spoke of the two always existing and contending parties in this country, under whatever names they may from time to time appear. One we called the Democratic, or that in favor of the government of the people, for the good of the people at large. This must always consist of the laboring classes. The other we called the Aristocratic, or that in favor of a kingly or a "strong government," with a nobility, &c. This includes and is governed by the rich and the fashionable, who aim to monopolize all the power, and to render legislation subservient to their own special interest and aggrandizement. There are many of the laboring classes attached to them, who either deem them democratic, patriotic, and honest in their political views, or who look to them for office, patronage, or a large share of the spoils. We showed that this party, being defeated by the votes of the people, and driven from other places of federal power, had now and for many years past been encroaching themselves behind the Judiciary. This they are strengthening, and supporting, and enlarging, and building up, in every possible way. This is the only arbitrary power in the country. From this there is no appeal. Over this the people have no control. Its decisions are despotic; no power can revise them. The people may change, by their votes, all the other individuals in power, and with them the principles and measures of the government; but the judiciary is beyond their control, and is therefore the natural and the dangerous refuge of the foes of democracy, and the cunning and powerful friends of a "strong government."

There are two ways, by which the judiciary is daily acquiring a dangerous power, and by which the aristocratic party is nourishing it, and endeavoring to render it irresistible. The first is by legislation, conferring upon it new powers, enlarging its jurisdiction, gradually abolishing jury trials, giving to the judges, without a jury, the power of trying, convicting, punishing persons for alleged crimes, &c. The second is, by what is vulgarly termed "judge law,"—the decisions of the judges themselves with regard to their own powers and jurisdiction—with regard to "common law," and to the construction to be put upon statutes.

Belonging to the first method is the conferring chancery powers, in which all the trials are without a jury. The judges alone try and decide all cases in chancery. In the United States Court, there being, we believe, no statutory or constitutional restrictions, the judges assume what powers they think proper, or have only for their guide that greatest curse of England, its Court of Chancery. In this State, the chancery powers, which are of recent date, are constantly increasing, either by new statutes or by new decisions; and in almost every session of the legislature, new bills for that purpose are brought in—though most of them, thanks to the "huge paws" of the country representatives, (who are mostly democratic in principle, to whatever party they may professably belong,) are smothered before parturition.

Belonging to the same method are those statutes and the establishing those courts, in which trials for crimes are authorized, without juries
